Police Warn Public About New "Call Center Scam"

The Cyber Crime Investigation Bureau (CCIB) has recently detected a surge in fraudulent phone calls targeting elderly citizens. In this latest scam, the criminals pretend to be high-ranking police officers or government officials.

The scammers typically contact victims via phone or messaging apps, claiming that the victims are involved in illegal money laundering activities. To avoid legal action, the victims are pressured to transfer all their savings to a "government-controlled" account for investigation.

"Genuine authorities will never ask you to transfer money over the phone or via a private link," said the CCIB spokesperson. The public is advised to hang up immediately and verify the information through official channels. So far, the total damage reported has exceeded 50 million Baht this month alone.

What do the scammers claim when they contact the victims?

The Power of DNA Profiling

DNA profiling, also known as genetic fingerprinting, has revolutionized modern criminal investigations. Since its first use in the 1980s, this technology has become one of the most reliable tools for identifying suspects and solving "cold cases"—older crimes that remained unsolved for years.

Unlike traditional fingerprints, which can be easily wiped away or obscured, DNA can be extracted from tiny biological samples such as a single strand of hair, a drop of blood, or even skin cells left on a surface. Once a sample is collected from a crime scene, forensic scientists create a unique profile that can be compared against a national database or a specific suspect.

Despite its accuracy, DNA evidence is not always enough to secure a conviction. It only proves that a person was present at a location, not necessarily that they committed the crime. Therefore, detectives must still gather other types of evidence, such as witness testimony and physical clues, to build a complete case in court.

Why is DNA profiling useful for "cold cases"?

1. It helps police find new witnesses.
2. It can solve crimes that have been unsolved for a long time.
3. It prevents crimes from happening in the future.
4. It makes the investigation process faster than before.

95. Direction: Read the passage and choose the correct answer.

Thailand's vibrant streets are not just bustling with people, but with an explosion of flavors. Street food vendors, with their colorful carts and sizzling grills, offer a delicious and affordable way to experience authentic Thai cuisine. From savory noodle dishes like Pad Thai to the sweet and refreshing mango sticky rice, these bite-sized wonders cater to every palate.

Beyond the food itself, street food is a social experience. Sharing plates with friends, watching vendors cook with practiced skill, and immersing yourself in the lively atmosphere creates a unique cultural encounter. So, don't be afraid to step outside your comfort zone, grab a skewer of satay or a bowl of spicy Tom Yum soup, and embark on a culinary adventure through the streets of Thailand.

What is the main point of the passage?

1. To describe the different types of street food available in Thailand
2. To explain how to cook Thai food.
3. To compare Thai street food to other types of cuisine
4. To encourage people to try street food in Thailand.

Why Sleep Matters

Many people view sleep as a luxury or a waste of time, but scientists argue that it is a fundamental necessity for human health. While we sleep, our bodies are far from inactive. The brain performs "housekeeping" tasks, such as clearing out toxins and organizing memories from the day.

Lack of sleep can lead to serious consequences. In the short term, it causes poor concentration, irritability, and slower reaction times—which can be dangerous for drivers or heavy machinery operators. In the long term, chronic sleep deprivation is linked to heart disease, obesity, and a weakened immune system.

To improve sleep quality, experts suggest maintaining a consistent schedule, even on weekends. Additionally, avoiding "blue light" from smartphones and computers at least an hour before bed can help the body produce melatonin, the hormone responsible for sleep. Creating a dark, cool environment is also key to a restful night.

According to the text, what does the brain do during sleep?

1. It stops working completely to save energy.
2. It clears out toxins and organizes memories.
3. It dreams about future events to prevent stress.
4. It monitors the surroundings for danger.
